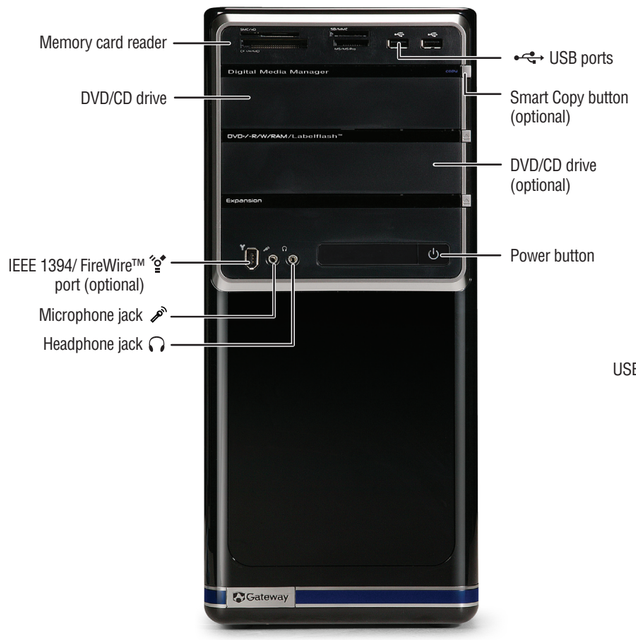
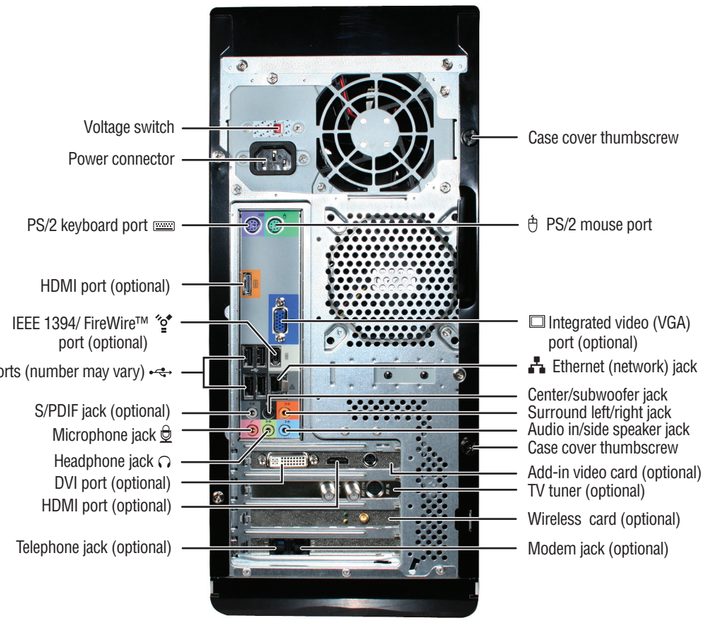
SETTING UP YOUR GATEWAY COMPUTER

Your Gateway computer is packed with many powerful features.
Icons and color coding help make setting up your computer as easy as possible.

FRONT (may vary with options)

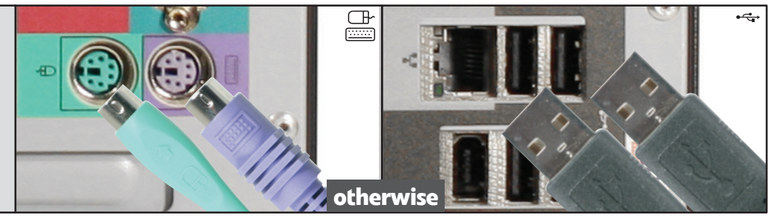


BACK (may vary with options)



1 Connect the mouse and keyboard

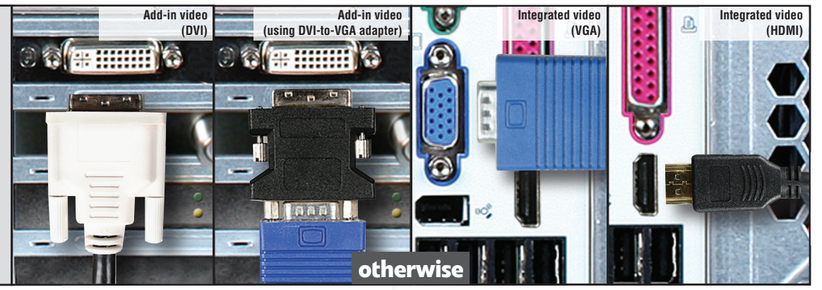
If you have a wireless mouse or keyboard, follow the instructions that came with them.



2 Connect the monitor (depending on your model)

If available, connect to Add-in video (HDMI, DVI, or VGA), otherwise connect to integrated video (HDMI or VGA). The integrated video port is disabled if you have add-in video.

Note: You can use the included DVI-to-VGA adapter to connect a VGA monitor to a DVI video port.

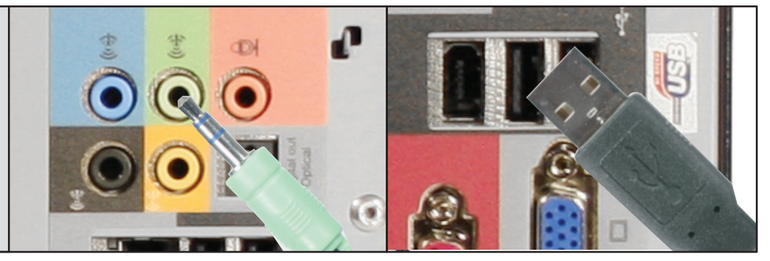


3 Connect the speakers (optional)

Follow the instructions that came with your speakers.

Note: If you ordered an audio card with your computer, connect your speakers to the card's jacks. Integrated audio jacks are disabled when an audio card is installed.

Note: If you have a speaker bar, follow the instructions that came with it.



4 Connect the modem (optional)

Connect the telephone modem cable to the modem jack and telephone wall jack. You can connect your telephone to the telephone jack.

5 Connect the network (optional)

Connect the network (RJ45) cable to the Ethernet jack and a cable modem, DSL modem, or network jack.

NOTE: For detailed network and Internet setup instructions, see your online User Guide.

6 Connect the power cord

Connect the power cable to the computer, then plug it into a power source. To protect your system from power fluctuations, use a surge protector.

WARNING: To protect your computer during electrical storms, unplug the power cord, modem, and network cables.

7 Turn on the power (⏻)

Turn on the monitor and computer. Follow the Windows setup screen instructions.

IMPORTANT: Connect devices, such as a printer or scanner, after you complete the Windows setup. Follow the instructions that came with the device.
